Did You Know?

Generic equivalents are often up to 80% less than their name brand counterparts. It is estimated that generics account for two-thirds of all prescriptions filled in the US.

Generic Drugs

Many name-brand drugs have lower priced alternatives that are available. These are called generic equivalents, and they could save you money. Generics are very safe and effective. They are required by the FDA to be the same in terms of active ingredients and effectiveness. To learn more, ask your physician or pharmacist.
